Butte Humane Society Continues Fundraiser for new Washing Machine and Dryer

Chico, Calif... Butte Humane Society is raising money to pay for their shelter's replacement washer and dryer. Their current washer is being held together with cardboard and bungee cords. This is something that they have needed for quite some time.

The fundraiser was launched on July 1, 2022, and its initial funding goal was reached in less than three days. The success of the fundraiser has led to Butte Humane Society raising the final goal amount. Butte Humane Society is now aiming to get to its stretch goal of $30,000.

Butte Humane Society also has been in contact with a generous donor that wishes to remain anonymous. This person is willing to donate an additional $16,000 to the laundry efforts.

Although the fundraising campaign initially started as a jumping-off point to fix its laundry situation, because of the quick spread and huge amount of donations Butte Humane Society is hoping to get two washers and dryers to truly streamline its laundry.

On average, Butte Humane Society has 100 cats and dogs in its care. These animals are given fresh blankets and towels every day. Butte Humane Society has a high standard for sanitation. Because of this, they end up washing over ten thousand pounds of laundry every month.

“The easier our lives are, the better the animals’ lives will be.” Said Katrina Woodcox, Executive Director of Butte Humane Society. “If we can do laundry faster and more efficiently, then everyone will benefit. Our need for a washer and dryer has reached new heights since we know our current ones will die any day now.”
